Town Council.

The Town Council held a brief session on Monday night. Councilman Farrand was absent from the meeting. William P. Sutphen, former president of the Board of Trade, headed a delegation of members of that body that came before the Council in the matter of the petition from Thomas Oakes & Co. for a siding from the Erie Raliroad across Walnut. street. Mr. Sutphen spoke against grade crossings in general and against the Walnut street crossing in particular. He said the committee had examined the location where the company wanted the switch and had found the grade crossing now there was a very dangerous one, and if permission was granted to lay another track it would increase that danger. The crossing is not protected by gates, and many accidents have happened there, some of which were of very serious nature.

"The Board of Trade," he continued, has several times requested the rail road company to erect and maintain gates at the crossing in question, but no response was received from the company. The sentiment seems to be against grade crossings, and we believe it would be unwise for the Council to allow them to be increased."

Mr. Sutphen concluded by asking that action in the matter be postponed until the matter could be further looked into, and the people residing in that locality

Councilman Green of the water committee said he was prepared to submit a report regarding the changing of the location of a hydrant, where it was proposed to lay the switch, but after listening to Mr. Sutphen he would report progress on the matter and move that action be deferred for two weeks, which report for the month of April. The collector stated that Deputy Collector Fornoff had during the last two months collected $943 47 on past personal taxes. Ordinances were introduced for laying a sewer in Glenwood avenue from Liewellyn avenue south, a distance of 1,300 feet to the East Orange line, and to lay a bluestone flag walk on the northeast side of Bloomfield avenue, from Broad street to the Watchung railroad crossing. Junk dealers and peddlers' license ordinances were amended, making the license fee of the former $5 a year and the latter $10 a year. The resignation of Addison Worthington as a member of Active Hose Company No. 2 was accepted, and the election of John Albinson was confirmed as a member of the same company.
